COVID-19 Update for NaBITA's Regional Training Events

Frequently Asked Questions

Are the virtual trainings listed above still open for registration?

Absolutely! Now is the time to take advantage of the ability to receive a certification while you are working remotely. If your institution instated travel restrictions or you are required to work remotely, this may be an ideal opportunity to continue your education! Registration is limited but still open for all events.

Will the trainings be interactive?

Yes! NaBITA is working diligently to ensure each training includes multiple Q&A sessions, polls to assess attendee input, and an assigned moderator who will work one-on-one with the consultant.

Will additional trainings be offered virtually?

At this time, we are focused on trainings through April. If the Centers for Disease Control requires social distancing beyond April, we will continue to offer training sessions in a virtual manner. Therefore, if you plan to sign-up for one of our scheduled events beyond April, you will automatically be given the option to attend that training virtually or move your registration to another event. We will reassess our alternatives within the next few weeks and provide an update on all future events.

Do I have to sign-up for a Zoom account?

No, once you register for a training, you will receive a specific link that allows you access to the training. This link will allow you to sign-in each day. The link will activate for the person assigned to the email address provided at registration.

How long will the training sessions be?

All trainings are scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with registration beginning at 8:00 a.m. each morning. The same agenda will be followed for all virtual events. You can expect a mid-morning and mid-afternoon break as well as a one-hour lunch. Keep in mind all training sessions will be held in the time zones in which they were scheduled.

Will NaBITA still accept applications to host?

Yes, NaBITA is still reviewing applications to host for dates after September 2020. Additional details can be found on our website under Training & Events.

Thank you to all members of our community for your understanding and support during this challenging time. We are proud to be able to continue to offer you the quality trainings you have come to love. We look forward to learning with you online!

Stav well.
