

Post COVID-19 Back to School Safety Free Training Opportunity *HOST NEEDED*

Starting in late September/early October TNG Safety is looking for a partner to host a comprehensive two-day School Safety training curriculum.

Our speaker requires an auditorium/multi-purpose room with a screen that supports a projector presentation, and seating for at least 50 attendees.

In exchange, the host school will receive 10 free seats in both days of classes ($8,000 value).

TNG Safety will be inviting educators and administrators from your surrounding area. Pricing will be $799 for two days of training and $549 for a single day.

MERIT Active Shooter Training (Day One)

Rethink Active Shooter Training. MERIT not only teaches you how to respond in an emergency, it highlights the importance of establishing a prevention-based active shooter program at your school, concentrating on preventing the act of violence before it occurs. Past acts of violence in the K–12 environments and current strategies and policies will be reviewed to build a comprehensive active shooter program-providing techniques that will aid in reducing the risk and the anxiety/fear of staff. Participants will learn the importance of integrating behavioral intervention teams and about the risk and threat assessment processes in addition to learning approaches on effective best practices to consider during an active shooter incident.

Critical Issues in Campus Safety (Day Two)

Large-scale emergency incidents and disasters can occur anywhere on any school campus. When they do, all eyes will fall on the Campus Emergency Team. As a responsible educator, you will be critically evaluated on your preparedness and your schools' ability to manage the crisis event. This course is designed to both refresh and train your Campus Emergency Management Team, and to give them the tools that will enable them to manage a wide variety of emergency situations. Participants will be exposed to case studies and practical exercises that will allow them to apply the principles taught in class.

If COVID-19 has taught us anything, it is that emergencies occur without warning.

With school back in session this fall and students struggling to adjust to the new normal after this period of stress and uncertainty, now is a great time to refresh your school safety protocol.
